

I am a professional that measures radiation from the cellular industry. I am familiar with an enormous number of people who are sick from this type of radiation. There is no assurance that this radiation is safe, so to expose every home to it, regardless of the condition of the residents, is dangerous to the public health. In fact, the scientific evidence is accumulating to indicate that it is very dangerous. We will pay the price in health care costs, social services, and disaffected populations. Please review all relevant data before considering the 5G network.